

the person who is finding your sin wants to do what you are doing... but he does not have the guts
i am supporting sinners
all sinners are my friends all holy people run away they are parasites...hypocrites...creating guilt in others...

i detest non sinners
all these holy people are creating misery in the world... comparison...judgment...heaven and hell what do you think god is do you think god is heaven ?
absolutely not !!
god is creating hell !!

if you have god you have to have heaven
the moment you have heaven you have to have hell heaven without hell has no meaning if god exists he has to create the devil without him he cannot judge the people just imagine heaven...how it can exist ?

if you have a heaven you need an embassy then you need a diplomat... then you need a visa...
and then you need control... god...the priests...the popes... the teachers...the cardinals... what will happen with the person going to hell ?
he has to be kept in some waiting room...
so you need the police...and the inspectors...
and the judges...and the courts...
who is the greatest most responsible criminal here ?
the non sinner called god
god has created this hell !

there is no such thing as sin
life is so beautiful
how many sins can you commit that you will go to hell ?
sin as much as you can and the people who are not sinning teach them a few sins let them enjoy also a little bit there is no sin in the world... just people enjoying...innocently...
do you enjoy sinning ?
start enjoying !!

question i would like to ask one more question about this topic... what about morality decency ? if you say there are no sinners...no good peoples...no saints... when you talk about such simple people who drink vodka and smoking i understand but what about people who can harm other people ? who can destroy ? kill ? who are really dangerous...what about them ? the real criminals...

anybody who is not blissful in himself is going to do something miserable for another person it is as simple as that anybody who is put under pressure sooner or later will become a criminal the society...the world we live in...is not compassionate enough the person who is a criminal perhaps is the weakest in society that he has been influenced wrongly just understand what i am saying to you if you are strong

you cannot be influenced wrongly the person who is the weakest can be influenced to do something wrong
