

we are simply lost...mad people that is why all these juicy people keep coming again and again these are the real mad people so welcome to more madness but there are few people who are not mad yet we are here to drive you mad !

question when we were dancing... why did the branch of the tree suddenly fall down ?

the tree started dancing with us...
it forgot how to dance...
it forgot...it is an old tree...just one arm fell down !! when you are dancing...all the trees dance with you they have been waiting for you to dance for a long time there was an old dead branch...it simply fell down it must be all this explosive energy here... some part of the mind of the tree must have also fallen boom !
good beginning...

it reminds me of a story in poona we used to dance in a smaller hall...the chuang tsu hall which has now become the samadhi of osho many times we were dancing in that hall and many times bhagwan commented...i am surprised the ceiling is still here !
a big hall and just six or eight pillars... and many times the whole hall used to shake...used to vibrate... many times bhagwan said...my god...how come this wall is still standing ?
when you are exploding in love...in ecstasy... even the rocks want to live...
within that rock...within that stone...is life pulsating...

it recognises your totality even the rocks start dancing !
i am not joking...i have seen it so... when i had my first explosion
i was shocked to see is that all the walls... and the stones...and the ground...
was moving...swimming...
i could not place my foot on the earth...
everything was moving like a river even the rocks were swimming...it was not solid there was a density
but it was merging with the outer empty space... it was so scary to put my foot on the earth it always felt that my feet would be swallowed the rocks are totally alive the more total you will be the more your peaked state will be you will see the rocks are living... the rocks are breathing...

and they are growing...
even the rocks are growing !

you can see crystals
how they are growing...slowly...slowly...slowly... there is a pulse within them but to see the life within a rock you need to be at such a peaked state... that you can see through matter higher you go...nothing is dead... everything becomes a pure vibration be careful when you walk this whole earth is swimming like a river it is all a vibration of life...nothing is dead...

hmm ?
