

you will never lose the experience any time you want to relive the experience close your eyes... and you will feel something hovering over you it is so alive...
it will haunt you your whole life and everything that you will do will slowly slowly start gathering in that being... that silent witnessing presence so do not worry you will not lose it it will only grow vaster and vaster with the correct food... the correct rest...

the right energetic presence... the help and love of a master... the help and love of a natural buddhafield... this experience will grow vaster...vaster...vaster...

so the outer can help you and a meditator is one who searches the best... the most perfect soil for his spiritual growth that is why you are here... because we are here gathered together as one and each experience of yours and the experience of others who are gathered here help each other...
hand in hand...
my experience helps you... your experience helps me...

your inner pathways are different...my inner pathways are different and when many individuals gather together each ones pathways towards the truth makes the whole mystery stronger...

each and every person here is supporting the others truth... somebody may arrive through the heart centre somebody may arrive through the third eye centre somebody may arrive through the throat centre each person is so uniquely presenting that pathway that you are helping each and every person here this is the reason we search for a buddhafield nobody is higher and nobody is lower here we are all individuals gathered together in deep respect and love for one another what binds us together is our love for our master and a deep reverence to each and every individual each person carries a special treasure and each treasure in this group becomes richer somebody is a red ruby somebody is a green emerald somebody is a blue sapphire somebody is a white diamond all jewels put together you are going to become richer...

do not worry... you can relive it any moment you have not lost anything... and you continue on your journey and that experience that you have had will gather more treasures from that open window that is available to you
