

you really want your child to succeed in the world ?
then give him a few guns !!
yes it is necessary...
but while you give education to your children
why not give them a creative education too ?
music...painting...art...pottery... these evolve the child into deeper inner dimensions of creativity

you cannot sell creativity
but you can sell logic
maths is important...geography...science coming first in class
all competition...
you need to make your children competitive always go ahead of the other do you ever tell your children become a loser ?
do you give him a chocolate because he came last in class ?

you are teaching the child reward and punishment...
stop this day dreaming...
come first in class...
do well...
with this mental education you are destroying the child's innocence
the child is intelligent let them grow at their pace...

children were put into education at six or seven years of age but i just heard that they are being put into school at just five...even at three !
do the parents not want them ?
do they not love them ?
they do not need to stuff rubbish in your head so early leave them alone till six or seven feel when they have an urge to understand something and say...yes...do not worry...it is not so important

we love you...you are here... you have enough intelligence to live your life you do not need to add more misery there are so many ways you can bring up your children or rather do not bring them up how about those children who have lived fifty years ago or a hundred years ago...when there was no education did they look unhealthy ?
their quality of life must have been greater mystics do not educate their children...they leave them alone and watch them with great care and understanding watching the qualities that they are expressing just helping them along the way little by little without pushing them...just letting them hang loose...

they do not want to wake up at six in the morning to go to school ?
no need...let them sleep...
i am like that !
do not force your ideas on children
i say...do not bring them up start becoming a child yourself... you will understand what the child really needs and probably the child will teach you what you need they will show you what is missing in you...

and do not worry at all wisdom cannot be pushed into you... mysticism cannot be given to you in education they cannot make you an angel of light you understand what i am saying ?
it is a vast subject...
it needs deep understanding... that is why i do not want to go into a long debate
