

question you told that children are already enlightened beings so how to help the children to remain in this enlightened state ?

my god...when i speak about children i speak for one hour i am passionate about children ! i fight for children... i fight for the innocence of these new beings who are coming to this earth i am not going to speak today another time...okay my friend ?

it is something i am very passionate about i am very passionate about innocence to me innocence is the greatest treasure forget all kind of stupid achievements... enlightenment...or whatever you want to call it... innocence is by far the greatest treasure on this earth not knowing...that innocent state... just a waiting heart... that is truth itself

the baby may not know how to say a single word it may be just mumbling jumbling this is the sound of truth ! those sounds coming out of the babies mouth they are the ultimate sound of truth they are so primitively rooted in the very being of the child just listen to the sound of a child whether it is crying or laughing or giggling it is so authentic !
it is a sound of existence that is why i say innocence is by far the greatest treasure you see socrates he says...now i know that i know nothing at all he has defined the ultimate truth to be such an unknowable mystery... such an unknowable mystery that there is no need to know your knowing is so deep...so profound only in an innocent state can that profound experience be revealed it is so multidimensional mind can only rest on certain things it cannot rest on a million directions at once truth is taking care of this whole existence in millions of life forms no words can even come close...no knowledge... nothing known can defines the ultimate reality of this buzz of existence whenever i remember the space...innocence..i think of children they are my passion... not that i want to have children...no thank you always go back to the innocence of the child question i am a newcomer here...i get disappointed when i hear that our evolution of our higher consciousness does not go in the same direction as our body...is it possible to make them go in the same direction ?

you are asking for the impossible ! you are fortunate... you are fortunate that you have a body of this calibre that existence has brought you to this physical reality that itself is a miracle...one of the greatest miracles ever so be grateful to its achievements...to its presence we have to learn to be thankful for whatever we have received do not deny the body it is beautiful that it has certain limitations otherwise today you will start flying it has limitations...it has to walk
